

Live –In Aide Certification

BACKGROUND: A live-in aide is a member of the household, not the family, and the income of the aide is not considered in income calculations. Relatives may be approved as live-in aides if they meet all of the criteria defining a live-in aide. However, a relative who serves as a live-in aide is not considered a family member and would not be considered a remaining member of a tenant family.

BHDC will not approve or may withdraw an approval if:

- The person commits fraud, bribery or any other corrupt or criminal act in connection any federal housing program;
- The person commits drug-related criminal activity or violent criminal activity; or
- The person currently owes rent or other amounts to the PHA or to another PHA in connection with a Section 8 or public housing assistance under the 1937 Act.

I _____, certify that I understand the above and in addition, that I am not obligated for the support of the person(s) in need of the care, and would not be living in the unit except to provide the necessary supportive services.
